Program Description

Overview

OJP is committed to advancing work that promotes civil rights and racial equity, increases access to justice, supports crime victims and individuals impacted by the justice system, strengthens community safety and protects the public from crime and evolving threats and builds trust between law enforcement and the community.

The Office for Victims of Crime (OVC) is committed to enhancing the Nation's capacity to assist crime victims and provide leadership in changing attitudes, policies, and practices to promote justice and healing for all victims of crime. This solicitation seeks to improve linkages between the victim services field and hospitals and other medical facilities that increase support for victims of crime, improve victim outcomes, and reduce chances of further victimization.

Statutory Authority

34 U.S.C. § 20103(c)(1)(A)

Specific Information

Receiving culturally relevant, trauma-informed services for crime victims is an important step in every victim's healing process. According to the National Crime Victimization Survey (NCVS), only 11 percent of victims of serious violence who report their victimization ever access help from a victim services agency. Increasing the number of crime victims connected to the supports necessary to aid their healing is vital. This connection is especially important for groups that experience high rates of victimization. In recent years, a rise in gun violence has disproportionally impacted underserved communities, particularly communities of color, as noted in the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's Fatal Injury Reports. OVC remains committed to supporting efforts to diversify and expand existing strategies for providing victim assistance and establishing vital linkages to other fields that touch the lives of those impacted by crime—particularly those victims who may be less likely to access services through the criminal justice system.

In an effort to expand the use of hospitals and other medical facilities as an entry point to increase support for victims of crime, improve their outcomes, and reduce the risk for repeat victimization, this solicitation will fund up to three demonstration sites to expand existing hospital-based programs that support crime victims. Comprehensive technical assistance (TA) resources to support site efforts will be provided through separate OVC funding to the Health Alliance for Violence Intervention (the HAVI).

Goals, Objectives, Deliverables, and Timeline

The goal of this solicitation is to support evidence-based models, practices, and policies that improve partnerships between the victim services field and hospitals and other medical facilities to increase support for crime victims. The objective of these partnerships is to provide comprehensive, coordinated, culturally relevant, trauma-informed services and support that address the full range of victim needs. This solicitation will fund up to three demonstration sites that operate hospital-based/affiliated programs to support crime victims using evidence-based models and practices with victim-centered approaches.

The demonstration sites will develop plans to provide comprehensive services that aid in the survivor's physical and emotional recovery. OVC encourages a focus on responding to community violence and victims of gun violence; however, potential sites may consider using hospital-based/affiliated services and other related approaches to support multiple types of victimization in their proposed projects. Demonstration project applicants should include detailed descriptions of the specific approach they will follow to reach victims of violence, and explain how the approach will be used to improve victim outcomes. Applicants should also include a detailed explanation of how their program partners will assist in meeting the complex needs of the victims served. These details should cover how referral networks and collaboration between the hospital-based programs, community-based organizations, law enforcement, and other public agencies will be strengthened for the purpose of improving the response to victims of gun and community violence.

All services provided as part of this program must: respect the decision-making independence of crime victims, support victim self-sufficiency, and promote victims' feelings of increased safety and well-being. Collaborations with victim-serving organizations will be an important element of this model, as programs should also incorporate plans to follow-up with discharged victims and their families to assist with their long-term recovery. Successful applicants will include one or more hospitals or medical facilities within the area, departments of health, or relevant victim-serving organizations to implement a model most appropriate in that jurisdiction and most capable of filling an unmet need.

Project activities could include the following:

- Creating trauma-informed services and support for survivors identified by program advocates, case managers, and other staff when entering hospital emergency departments and similar medical settings (e.g., urgent care facilities, clinics).
- Funding positions and training for hospital and program staff on the use of screening tools and other methods used to identify victimization and trauma.
- Conducting training for medical staff on the use of victim-centered, culturally relevant, trauma-informed approaches when working with survivors in hospital settings.
- Funding partnerships to expand the network of support services available to survivors in the surrounding community that are easily accessible for survivors.
- Use of multidisciplinary teams linked to hospitals to identify and address service gaps and barriers that improve participating agency responses to victims and create a seamless network of services for survivors.

The activities listed above are solely included as examples. Applicants are not limited to submitting proposals for these types of activities. Rather, applicants are encouraged to consider a variety of innovative solutions that apply approaches to improve outcomes for crime victims.

Applicants will be required to collaborate with a local research partner to support their work on the project and should budget at least $25,000 per year to support the local evaluation of the project. Priority will be given to projects engaged in research-practitioner partnerships that will have a rigorous evaluation component that will contribute to program enhancements, filling gaps in knowledge, and bridge-building across these fields.

The local research entity must be a partner in the proposal, and a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) between the applicant organization and the research entity must be included in the application. The role of the local research entity is to assist the site with identifying and documenting the use of evidence-based practices. The local research partner will help the site develop a logic model for the project to provide a graphical depiction of the logical relationships between the resources, activities, outputs, and outcomes of the program. The research partner must be independent and not connected, directly or indirectly, to the applicant agency outside of the agreement for the implementation evaluation. The MOU developed must explicitly allow the local research entity access to data that is important to the successful completion of the demonstration project. The proposal and budget must also clearly reflect the partnership of the researcher. Applicants are encouraged to explore a range of possible research partners, including those that reflect or have a connection to the primary communities intended to be served under the project.

In support of the implementation evaluation, the local research partner will work with the site, the HAVI, and OVC to refine criteria and plans for implementation policies and procedures. The local research entity will also be responsible for working with the site and its partners to determine appropriate data collection procedures and ensure the project is able to obtain the data necessary to complete the implementation/process evaluation.

The participating sites will work along with the HAVI to establish sustainability plans and information-sharing agreements to elevate vital health-related data on a jurisdictional level, as well as engage in cross-analysis of victimization and victim services information, and where possible and appropriate, other health-related data not often used by the victim assistance field. These efforts will yield vital learning and best practices around aligning currently disparate data collection efforts, and improving the overall ability of these fields to talk to one another.

Goals and Objectives

Sites funded through this solicitation will engage in the following activities to meet the program goals and objectives:

- Identify or hire a project lead and formalize plans to coordinate and manage the proposed project.
- Identify potential program partners and develop or enhance letters of intent and MOUs to reflect roles, responsibilities, and commitments from partners.
- Devise plans to train staff from the project, hospital, and partner agencies (where appropriate) on the project itself, and on related victim-centered approaches.

- Participate regularly in TTA activities offered by the HAVI.
- Work in conjunction with the HAVI and other demonstration sites to strengthen the proposed projects and develop plans to sustain their efforts.
- Develop a logic model to illustrate how the grantee will monitor and evaluate project performance.
- Partner with a local research entity to conduct a process and implementation evaluation of the project and identify and document the project's use of evidence-based practices and lessons learned.
- Conduct data collection and evaluation or action research activities to measure grant performance and generate internal improvements in service delivery and victim outcomes.

Deliverables

Deliverables include the following:

- Submission of quarterly financial reports and semiannual progress reports in compliance with DOJ grant requirements.
- Participation in conferences and meetings hosted by the HAVI, OVC, and other partners, as requested by OVC.
- A final report that describes how the grantee implemented its project, including identification of project partners, areas of success, and lessons learned from program data collection and evaluation efforts or action research activities.

OVC will enter into a cooperative agreement with the successful demonstration project applicants to ensure involvement in key decisions and direction of the project. In furtherance of the goals and objectives described above, OVC's role in coordination will include the following:

- Reviewing nd approving major plans, including changes to such plans, and key decisions pertaining to project operations.
- Reviewing and approving major project-generated documents.
- Providing guidance on significant project plans and participating in project-related training events or meetings. (OVC will make final decision on the occurrence of any events, and review and approve meeting agendas).
- Selecting the participating demonstration project sites.

The Goals, Objectives, and Deliverables are directly related to the performance measures that show the completed work's results, as discussed in the Application and Submission Information section.

Evidence-Based Programs or Practices

The applicant will need to review the Standard Applicant Information in JustGrants and make edits as needed. Within this section, the applicant will need to: add zip codes for areas affected by the project; confirm its Authorized Representative; and verify and confirm the organization's unique entity identifier, legal name, and address.

Proposal Abstract

A proposal abstract (no more than 400 words) summarizing the proposed project, including the purpose of the project, primary activities, expected outcomes, the service area, intended beneficiaries and subrecipients (if known), will be completed in the JustGrants web-based form. This abstract should be written in the third person and will be made publicly available on the OJP website if the project is awarded.

Proposal Narrative

The proposal narrative should be submitted as an attachment in JustGrants. The attached document should be double-spaced, using a standard 12-point font; have no less than 1-inch margins; and should not exceed 25 pages. Pages should be numbered and submitted as an attachment. If the proposal narrative fails to comply with these length restrictions, OVC may consider such noncompliance in peer review and in final award decision.

Applicants should include detailed descriptions of the specific approach they will follow to reach victims of violence and explain how the approach will be used to improve victim outcomes. Applicants should also include a detailed explanation of how their program partners will assist in meeting the complex needs of the victims served. Successful applicants will offer an array of services to meet victim needs, including immediate supports such as safety planning, crisis intervention, referrals to community-based victim services (including crime victim compensation) and social services, victim advocacy, emotional support, grief counseling, and psycho-education on the effects of trauma on victims and their families.

The following sections must be included as part of the proposal narrative:

a. Statement of the Problem if research is involved

The statement of the problem must establish strong rationale for the project and provide a clear statement of how funding will support the project's value to the victim field by meeting the stated goals. Applicants should use data to provide evidence that the need for the effort exists and demonstrate the scope and size of the need. The statement of the problem must also make a convincing case that the project addresses a gap in existing resources and does not duplicate existing resources. If the applicant organization is receiving funding from any other sources to provide services and support for crime victims, or TA to support such projects, then the strategy must demonstrate how the OVC funding would leverage the other funding to enhance the response to victims.

b. Project Design and Implementation

The project design and implementation plan must describe the project strategy and discuss how the strategy will address the identified problems to meet the goals and objectives. This section should detail how the project will link and leverage resources from program partners that address the complex, long-term issues of survivors and their families, such as substance abuse, health issues, joblessness, educational opportunities, and stable housing that may prevent victims from achieving stability, safety, and overall well-being. The applicant's strategy or project design must include the identification of a lead agency and a main point of contact within the lead agency to coordinate the effort. It must also contain a description of project phases, tasks, activities, staff responsibilities, interim deliverables, and final products. The project design and implementation section must include a time-task plan that delineates organizational responsibility for the activities to be completed and a schedule for the completion of the activities and the submission of finished products. In preparing the time-task plan, Gantt chart, or schedule, applicants should make certain that all project activities occur within the proposed project period. Applicants must include a logic model that graphically illustrates how the project's problems, goals, objectives, and design are interrelated, leading to anticipated outputs, performance measures, and outcomes. Sample logic models are available at www.ojjdp.gov/grantees/pm/logic_models.html. The applicant must submit the logic model as a separate attachment.

Application Review Information

Review Criteria

Applications that meet the basic minimum requirements will be evaluated by peer reviewers. Applications will be evaluated on how the proposed project/program addresses the following criteria:

- 1. Statement of the Problem/Description of the Issue (15%) evaluate the applicant's understanding of the program/issue to be addressed.
- 2. Project Design and Implementation (40%) evaluate the adequacy of the proposal, including the goals, objectives, timelines, milestones, and deliverables.
- 3. Capabilities and Competencies (25%) evaluate the administrative and technical capacity of the applicant to successfully accomplish the goals and objectives.

b. Other Review Criteria/Factors

Other important considerations for OVC include geographic diversity, strategic priorities (specifically including, but not limited to, those priority areas already mentioned), available funding, past performance, and the extent to which the Budget Worksheet and Budget Narrative (web-based form) accurately explain project costs that are reasonable, necessary, and otherwise allowable under federal law and applicable federal cost principles.

Review Process

Applications submitted under this solicitation that meet the basic minimum requirements, will be evaluated for technical merit by a peer review panel(s) in accordance with OJP peer review policy and procedures using the stated review criteria listed above.

OJP screens applications to ensure they meet the basic minimum requirements prior to conducting the peer review. Although specific requirements may vary, the following are common requirements applicable to all OJP solicitations:

- The application must be submitted by an eligible type of applicant.
- The application must request funding within programmatic funding constraints (if applicable).
- The application must be responsive to the scope of the solicitation.
- The application must include all items necessary to meet the basic minimum requirements.

Pursuant to the Part 200 Uniform Requirements, before award decisions are made, OJP also reviews information related to the degree of risk posed by the applicant. Among other things to help assess whether an applicant with one or more prior federal awards has a satisfactory record with respect to performance, integrity, and business ethics, OJP checks whether the applicant is listed in SAM as excluded from receiving a federal award.

In addition, if OJP anticipates that an award will exceed $250,000 in federal funds, OJP also must review and consider any information about the applicant that appears in the non-public segment of the integrity and performance system accessible through SAM (currently, the Federal Awardee Performance and Integrity Information System, FAPIIS).

Important note on FAPIIS: An applicant may review and comment on any information about itself that currently appears in FAPIIS and was entered by a federal awarding agency. OJP will consider such comments by the applicant, in addition to the other information in FAPIIS, in its assessment of the risk posed by the applicant.

Absent explicit statutory authorization or written delegation of authority to the contrary, all final award decisions will be made by the Assistant Attorney General, who may consider not only peer review ratings and OVC recommendations, but also other factors as indicated in this section.

For additional information on these legal requirements, see the "Administrative, National Policy, and Other Legal Requirements" section in the OJP Grant Application Resource Guide.
